United drive leader named

General chairman of the October 1973 campaign of the Tri-Cities Area United Fund will be William F. Winter, editor of the Press-Record.

The selection by the executive committee of the United Fund was announced today by Paul H. Kelly, UF president.

Kelly, who is manager of the A. O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant here, served as chairman of the last UF campaign.

Winter has been active in past United drives and has been affiliated with a number of the member agencies.

He serves on the boards of the Salvation Army, Red Cross and Boy Scout Council and is a past Tri-City Red Cross chapter chairman.

A lifelong Granite Cityan, Winter has been on the Press-Record news-editorial staff for 23 years. Named assistant editor in 1956 and associate editor in 1961, he has been the editor for the past three years.

Quad-City (Uniwh) Boy Scout district chairman for two years, he has headed several scouting committees and projects and holds such awards as the council's "Oscar."

As "young man of the year" here in 1964, Winter received the Granite City Jaycee distinguished service award. He was honored as "citizen of the year" by the Tri-City Area YMCA in January.

A past vice-president and treasurer of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, he has headed several educational study groups, and served in recent months on a citizen junior college research unit and on the governor's levee district revision committee.

Winter also served by appointment of the governor on an urban area government advisory group which submitted recommendations to the state legislature and to the successful 1970 Illinois constitutional convention.

The former Army sergeant, married and the father of a son, has headed Parkview PTA, Travelers Abroad and the Madison Rotary Club.

At that time, 17 cents of the increase was applied to the structural program, 15 cents was allocated for salary increases in 1970-71, seven cents for salary increases in 1971-72 and one cent for supplies and equipment.

An increase in the education fund was approved by the governing school district which now totals about $729,000, Supt. John Pier commented.

The school superintendent said the district early this year borrowed $200,000 through the sale of working cash fund bonds, in addition to a debt of $300,000 incurred through sale of tax anticipation warrants to the First National Bank in Madison. The district also owes its creditors each fund $229,000, Pier said.

Pier noted that the $300,000 will have to be retired from tax revenue received from 10 collections this year, resulting in a shortage of funds available for operating expenses in the 1973-74 fiscal year.

"We have not decided how much of a rate increase will be needed, but expect to agree on a figure at the special meeting," Pier said.

BOY HIT BY CAR
James Lee Allen, 10, of 101 Warsaw Lane, was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, he was hurt when he was struck by a car on East Chain of Rocks Road near his home. He was treated for a cut to the back of the head and was x-rayed. The accident occurred after the boy got off the Mitchell school bus. The auto was driven by Beverly Sharg of Springfield and the bus was operated by Neva Hicks of Granite City.

Also taking part in the program will be Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, the Rev. Edward Gresh of St. Margaret Mary Church, and members of the Granite City High School Band who will play taps.

Tom Nesbit and Vincent A. Smith Corp. auto frame plant here, served as chairman of the last UF campaign.

VENICE SCHOOL RATE ELECTION MAY BE CALLED

The Venice Board of Education agreed Monday evening to hold a public hearing on a proposed 40-cent increase in the school tax for the year 1973-74, Monday, June 4, to discuss a proposed tax referendum for the education fund.

A decision will be reached at the special meeting on whether to schedule a tax rate increase election.

Residents of the Venice school district approved a 40-cent rate limit increase for the education fund in October 1969, increasing the limit from $1.65 to $2.05 on each $100 assessed valuation.

At that time, 17 cents of the increase was applied to the structural program, 15 cents was allocated for salary increases in 1970-71, seven cents for salary increases in 1971-72 and one cent for supplies and equipment.

Power line burns 2; Al A. Forrester dies

Albert A. Forrester, 57, of 2329 Cleveland Blvd., suffered fatal burns and a fellow employee was burned critically while they were repairing a sign at the Canal Restaurant and Motel on the Chain of Rocks Road west of Highway Three at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday.

In critical condition at the Barnes Hospital Burn Center, St. Louis, is William E. Carroll, 52, of Manchester, Mo.

Mr. Forrester was taken into St. Elizabeth Hospital. He was transferred yesterday afternoon to the St. John Mercy Hospital Burn Center, St. Louis, with first and second degree burns to the face, neck and arms. Third degree burns were left on his back and legs. He died there at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday.

The men, employed by the Levy Sign Co. of East St. Louis, were working on a metal ladder when the ball and hook at the end of the ladder came in contact with electric wires, transmitting shock to both.

Mr. Forrester was knocked from the ladder, falling about 30 feet.

Carroll, who remained on the ladder, was seen with his clothes burning by a part-time employee of the Canal Restaurant, Steve Smith, about 17, of Rural Route Two.

The youth grabbed rags from the sign company truck, climbed the ladder and smothered the flames. Since the ladder remained precariously close to the wires, Smith stayed with Carroll for about minutes, fearing that movement by the injured man would cause another shock.

He talked to Carroll in a successful effort to forestall unconsciousness until Mitchell and Granite City firemen could arrive. The youth was removed from the ladder in the snorkeled truck's bucket, and Smith was able to climb down.

Mr. Forrester had been rushed to the local hospital immediately.

Born in St. Louis, he had resided in Granite City for 20 years. He worked for the Levy Sign Co. of East St. Louis as a neon tube tender.

Mr. Forrester was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church and belonged to the Electrical Workers Union, Decatur.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Rita Forrester; four children, Miss Lois Forrester, James Forrester and Cindy Forrester, all of Granite City, and Mrs. Lonnie (Mary Ann) Caffee Jr. of Orlando, Fla.; and four sisters, Mrs. Otti (Mary) Clein, Mrs. Ray (Lucille) Lange, Miss Rita Forrester and Mrs. Charles (Norma) Metzner, all of St. Louis.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Madison names agent for sale of city-owned bridge

An agreement naming Thomas M. Noth as the exclusive agent for the sale or lease of the old Chain of Rocks Bridge and surrounding property, owned by the City of Madison, was reached today in a City Council meeting.

Mel Thomas of the agency advised the council that his firm will promote the bridge, no longer in use, and 172 acres of bridge land on a national scale.

If successful, his firm will receive a commission of 6% of the sale or lease price. Mayor Michael Sasyk told Thomas, however, that the Mal Landfill Corp. will have the first option to obtain the property.

Sasyk said Mal has been considering acquisition of the property for some time, awaiting results of surveys. The mayor also said that the city's asking sale price will start at $500,000.

He also said that the land would not be sold until the bridge but that the bridge would be available without sale of the land.

During possible use of the bridge and property, Thomas said "it will take some creative imagination but various uses, including amusement and entertainment, can be made of it."

He noted that other unlikely schemes are operating in Florida and other parts of the nation.

During the meeting the council referred the proposal to the legal department and planned to sign a contract at its next meeting on June 5.

In other business the council: Accepted the resignation of Christ Pashoff as city health inspector effective June 1 as he is beginning duties as the new Venice Township supervisor.

Approved attendance by four firemen to the Illinois Fire College June 14-17 at the University of Illinois with expenses of $150 per man for room and board.

Concurred in the appointments of the following city employees: Frank Durko, police chief; Robert Fanning, youth officer; Lester Firtos, city controller; Bill Fox and Frank Paas, part-time police clerks; Mrs. Rita Lyberger, secretary to the mayor and comptroller.

Elmer Smith, superintendent of streets; Jerry Verba and Robert depar, street department; Paul Besseman, refuse foreman; Mike Bisto, James Shipcoff, Paul Drayton, Joe Scrum, Joe Macko, Anthony Coin and Floyd Jenkins, refuse department; and C. W. Volok, Charles Woolfolk and Don Wilson, Emergency Employment Program.

Youth slain at burglary scene

A youth, 16, was shot and killed by Granite City police while a burglary was in progress at Victor's Tavern, 2001 Illinois Ave., at 2:40 a.m. Tuesday.

Dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital was Michael William Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins, 2240 Nevada Ave.

An autopsy report showed that death was due to internal hemorrhage caused by a gunshot wound in the chest area.

Police reported that after receiving an anonymous call of a burglary in progress, officers were stationed in the front and rear of the building and saw two persons inside.

Both allegedly ran out. Beer bottles and beer cans were overturned, the officers, who fired several warning shots.

The Collins youth then was hit as firing resumed.

Police Chief Ronald Vetter said that when the warning shots were fired, the youth was fleeing. The name of the officer or officers who fired was not disclosed.

St. Vetter said three officers were on the scene, headed by Sgt. Harry Mitchell as officer in charge. He added that the department is conducting an investigation to determine full details of the case.

Roger Niesporek, 19, who gave an address in Grantville, Ind. as a member of the scene. Police said he has been staying at 1844 Poplar St.

Niesporek was charged with burglary and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was released later on $700 cash bail set by Associate Judge Merlin Hiscot pending a preliminary hearing.

Police said entry was gained by prying open a side storage room door.

The back bar was ransacked and about $60 was taken from a cash register and cigarette machine. An undetermined amount of beer, whiskey, cigarettes and cigars was missing.

Some of the whisky and beer were found under a tree in the middle of the block across the street, police said.

Michael Collins was a student in Granite City. He was a born and raised member of the Living Waters Temple.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Daniel and Charles, and three sisters, Pamela, Lydia and Eugenia Collins, all at home, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carmel Tackett of Granite City.

An inquest is pending.

An obituary notice appears elsewhere in this issue.

Friends said he had just been released from Madison County juvenile prison. They interpreted the burglary as "a cry for help" intended to show that he wanted and needed further counseling or confinement.

Members of the family said early physical maturity and rheumatic fever led to emotional problems and dropping out of school as a freshman. He later attended a boys' school in Texas.

The report "voice told that he would have originated a burglary plan, and said he had consumed alcohol this week after being upset by a funeral he attended Monday. He was said to be particularly depressed because he had spent much time visiting the deceased man during hospitalization.

Despite past emotional difficulty, Michael Collins had seemed to solve much of it during the past six months, it was noted. He had made tentative plans to resume his high school education.

Some details of the shooting in a parking lot adjacent to the tavern were withheld on the advice of the Madison County state's attorney's staff. Assistant State's Attorney Charles Nighossian said data being compiled includes ballistic tests on police weapons.

Summer job center will link young people and employers

Mayors Paul Schuler of Granite City, Mike Sasyk of Madison, John E. Lee of Venice and Floyd David Moore of Pontoon Beach today supported the plan and issued proclamations along with Illinois Governor James R. Thompson.

"Please review your summer needs for full-time or part-time jobs to see if you can hire some of these young people. They want to work. They will work if you give them a chance."

The telephone number of 576-2383 will be utilized for businesses to report job openings and also for young people to arrange appointments.

At the center, youths will provide information on their skills and also will be given tips on ways to put their "best foot forward" at job interviews and on the job.

Waterways engineers probe Dobrey project

Two engineers of the Illinois Division of Waterways have been in the Quad-City area this week to review factors involved in developing a state-sponsored drainage improvement for the Dobrey Slough area of Nameoki Township. It was reported yesterday.

Making the review as a basis for a report to Gov. Dan Walker are John Bennett, technical advisor of the Waterways division, and Don VonNamen, waterways engineer, who have been meeting with area government officials and investigating factors that have blocked completion of six different plans advanced by the waterways division for construction of a drainage line to drain Dobrey Slough.

John Gullion, chief engineer of the waterways division, said a week ago his department is developing three more alternative routes for construction of a Dobrey Slough drainage line. Six previous routes were discarded after property owners would not grant easements, Gullion said.

Meanwhile, residents of the slough area have obtained approximately 400 signatures of petitions to Gov. Walker, requesting that he file suit against any persons or interests who attempt to block construction of the drainage improvement.

The residents say they also plan to file suits against all persons who have contributed to blocking the natural drainage flow of the slough area as far back as 50 years ago.

Additional Venice school repair to meet state code

The Venice Board of Education on Monday night discussed the outline of a fire and safety code set by the State Office of Public Instruction that is to be completed with prior to the fall opening of schools.

All repairs and renovations are to be completed during the summer.

Tentative plans were announced by Robert Vickers, assistant superintendent of schools, who will be in charge of the summer "Head Start" program.

He said the program is to start June 1 and run through July 27 at the Lee Park Recreation Center if plans are finalized. Students will attend classes from 8:30 a.m. to noon each week day. An orientation day has been set for June 9.

Board approval was given to rehire C. J. Schlosser, Co. of Alton for a regular audit of school records at a cost of $750 and an audit of the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center for $350.

A detailed report was given by Duane Rankin, director of the Technical Center, on an Illinois education administration conference held in Springfield during April.

During Monday's meeting, Fred Durer Jr., a former board member who resigned in January, was presented with a plaque in recognition of his nearly nine years as a board member. The presentation was made by Leo Davinroy, president.

Monthly bills approved by the board included $7,210 in the education fund, $10,978 in the building fund, $2,656 transportation and $818 in the junior college fund. The board authorized the Lincoln Technical Center to repay the Venice fire and safety code fund $10,000, and voted to transfer $321 from the education fund to Title II, $5,000 from the Technical Center to working cash fund and $15,000 from education to the building fund.

Moolah Shrine units to join May 31 parade

More than 275 Shrine men from Moolah Shrine Temple in St. Louis will join members of Ainal Shrine Temple in presenting the annual Shrine parade in Granite City Thursday evening, May 31. It was announced today by Earl Potter of Ainal Temple, parade marshal.

Thomas Burns, chairman, and Tom Hundley, co-chairman, both of Granite City, and members of Ainal Temple, are coordinating plans for the gala event.

The parade will promote Ainal's colorful "Shrine Circus," scheduled to be presented at the Tri-City Speedway on Nameokt Road Saturday and Sunday, June 2 and June 3, and Monday, June 4. Six performances are listed for the three-day period.

In addition to the ornately garbed Shrine units, decorated floats will be seen in this year's parade. Burns said, including an entry by Granite City Steel Co., related to its steelmaking functions, and one from Quad-City Amvets Post 51. The latter float is being designed to portray the famous flag raising incident on Iwo Jima in World War II by a small group of U.S. Marines, the parade spokesman advised.

Marching units will assemble between 7 and 7:30 p.m. May 31, at 19th Street and Niedringhaus Avenue, proceeding to Madison Avenue and north on Madison to Nameokt Village Shopping Center.

Spectators along the parade route will be greeted by gaily dressed clowns, music from numerous marching units, mounted horsemen, chanters and Shirers riding compact and miniature fire wagons, the latter group from Effingham.

Moolah Temple units include Mounted Lancers, marching patrol and honor guard, pipes and drums unit attired in kilts and playing bagpipes, a 30-member Chanters float, drum and bugle corps, motor patrol, consisting of motorcycles, Hayshaker Dixieland Band and a marching uniformed band.

Local Uniforms will take part in the parade as members of the Ainal Compacts, Tri-City Shrine Club, Ainal Drum Corps, Color Guard and Provost Guard of Ainal, Big Red Brass Band and the Oriental Band.

MORE ABOUT

it's inside I remember--and the happiness within.

I remember friendships that will last a whole life through--fellow workers talking and willing to help you, too. Some great, some lurk within these walls, for here knowledge lies.

By adding goodness to knowledge, a new splendor has emerged.

Friends make work pleasant, and competent employees create a secure atmosphere. Such conditions have thrived in this building and will continue to linger in our recollections.

I ponder upon the many, many students whose lives have been touched by attending this noted school. And I am proud to have been a part of what has made a little better world.

Such pleasure I have received from helping and sharing my knowledge with youngsters! In turn, words cannot express the even greater joys of receiving thanks in students' unspoken thoughts and actions.

It is a tremendous feeling to have known you have helped, and that you have learned something new--even if the acquired knowledge comes from a child.

And so as I listen to the scuffling, yelling, laughing of the students in the hall and as I see the cracked walls, creaky floors and wobbly rails, I feel quite sad that no more will such echoes reverberate through the halls.

An old building will close its doors to the youngsters and send them to newer and better places to learn. But such a building will not crumble, at least within our minds. It will stand erect and graceful in the memory of our town.

A monument of Granite City will remain in city history, and upon its walls will be written: "I have served them well."

I'll not forget this building, for it is here that I have learned and become a better person.

I'll remember, always, people who were helpful and nice to know. I shall not forget the smiling faces of the children I have taught.

The smiling face of time will stand unchanged, ringing out 3:30--school's out, time to go--in the center of the hall.

City calls bids for sewer break repairs

The Granite City Council, cornered over a mounting number of breaks in sanitary sewer lines in the Nameoki area, voted Monday night to call bids for repair of broken lines already reported at 11 locations.

Although several aldermen urged that bids be called on a cost-plus basis, a majority of council members approved a motion by Alderman Emerald Dawes, chairman of the street and alley committee, that bids be called with firm price offers.

Alderman Gerald Parmley said he did expect the city to receive any bids on that basis because contractors will not know the work involved until they reach the broken lines.

The city street department attempted to repair the first breaks reported in a sanitary line near Johnson Road behind St. Elizabeth School, but said the water table is so high the excavations filled in as workers attempted to reach the broken lines.

The same problems has confronted the workers on all the additional breaks reported since, according to Lionel Portell, city street superintendent.

City officials said the problem is comparable to that of 1968 when more than 25 sewer breaks occurred in the Nameoki area and resulted in a cost of more than $1 million for repairs.

Portell suggested to the council Monday night that the city re-evaluate the entire Nameoki area sewer with a view toward rebuilding lines from manhole to manhole instead of repairing the breaks. Portell has estimated repair costs at $250,000 for the 11 breaks so far and said the city will seek flood disaster grants to help pay the cost. He said EPA representatives have made several inspections here to support claims filed by the city for disaster aid.

The council adopted a series of ordinances Monday night creating additional traffic stops in five locations. They are: Stop sign on 13th Street at Rhodes Street, stop sign on Rhodes Street at Iron Street, stop sign on alley in back of National Food Store at Iowa Street, stop sign in both directions on Terminal Avenue at National Avenue, and a stop sign on Ramona Drive at Sunset Drive.

An ordinance providing that the city enter into an agreement with the Illinois Power Co. to pay for and provide street lights for the area of 20th street from Madison Avenue east to Edwardsville Road also was adopted.

The ordinance specifies that all incandescent lights in that area be converted to 20,000 lumen lights, and that nine 20,000 lumen lights be added.

Two awarded degrees at Central Methodist

Two Granite City students were among more than 170 to be awarded degrees at commencement exercises held this week at Central Methodist College, Fayette, Mo.

They are Michael A. Hagopian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hagopian, 2321 Gary Ave., who received a bachelor of arts degree in business administration, and Kenneth Talley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Talley, 3210 Colgate Place, who received a bachelor of arts degree in mathematics.

GC Scholarship Foundation presents $400 grants to 16

The Granite City Scholarship Foundation presented $400 scholarships to 16 students at the Granite City High School Recognition Assembly held Wednesday morning.

The primary purpose of the local scholarship foundation is to encourage and assist graduates of Granite City High School to enter an accredited college or university.

Recipients are chosen on the basis of financial need, scholastic ability and purpose of pursuing collegiate education.

The Granite City Scholarship Foundation is made up of area industry, business and civic organizations. The foundation was started in 1955 by Miss Agnes Rushfield, a high school teacher, who donated the first $200 scholarship. In the past 18 years, its membership has presented $450,000 in awards.

Omar Ronk, president of the foundation, introduced the representatives of its various member organizations who then made the award announcements.

Foundation grant winners, all of whom are senior year students, the organization is donating the scholarship and the individual representatives attending yesterday's assembly at the high school are listed in sequence:

Bryan Cooper, A. O. Stucke is again elected by Large District Council

The organization representing school boards in large districts has elected its leadership for the coming year, retaining Donald Stucke, president of the Granite City Board of Education, as its vice-chairman.

The Illinois Association of School Boards' Council of Large Districts, met during the weekend in Chicago. Delegates from the 58 member districts met to elect their officers and directors to serve on the Council's governing executive committee.

Leonard D. Moore, Fairview Heights, a member of the Belleville Township High School Board, was chosen as chairman.

The Large District Council was formed by the IASB a little more than a year ago to provide a vehicle for studying problems common to large urban and suburban school districts. Stucke also served on the governing committee for the first year of operation.

Varying power rate increases due here

Quad-City area residents will pay increases in electric rates to Illinois Power Co. on the basis of the number of kilowatts used, Carl Mathias, Granite City district manager of the Illinois Power Co., said this week.

The rate increase, allowed by the Illinois Interstate Commerce Commission, will range from a 69-cent monthly increase for customers using 500 kilowatts, to $1.22 monthly for those using 750 kilowatts, Mathias said.

Increases generally are based on varying percentages sufficient to give the company a total of $8.7 million in revenue during the year. This will average a 9% on bills of the average customer, Mathias explained.

Larger increases will be paid by commercial and industrial users according to the scale of power usage, he said.

Junior Sports Jamboree Saturday at GCHS field

The annual Junior Sports Jamboree, co-sponsored by the Granite City Jaycees and Illinois Youth Commission, will take place Saturday morning at the Granite City High School athletic field.

Tom Holtgrave, project chairman for the local Jaycee event, said today that registration will begin at the high school football stadium at 9 a.m. with competition to get under way at 10 a.m.

Entry forms and parental permission slips may be obtained from school physical education instructors or Jaycee members. Permission slips must be signed by parents or guardians and presented to the contest directors prior to a child participating, Holtgrave said.

Children without a permission slip who wish to register on the day of the meet are required to be accompanied by a parent or guardian to sign the necessary entry form, the Jaycee officer stressed.

Contestants must be between the ages of 10 and 15 years as of Aug. 31, 1973, to be eligible to take part. Boys and girls compete in three separate age divisions—midget division (10-11), junior (12-13) and intermediate (14-15). Ribbons will be presented to the first three places.

Winners at the local meet will advance to the regional contest at Highland in July, with those successful in regional competition advancing to the Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree, scheduled in August, according to Owen Ross, Jaycee president.

Competition will include numerous field events, high jump, baseball throw, long jump, and running events, including 50, 75 and 200 yard dashes and the 220, 440 and 880 relays.

Due to a lack of interest, a similar sports contest for Venice-Madison youth was discontinued by the local Jaycee club this year, Ross advised.

Chouteau calls special meeting on fund request

The Chouteau Town Board delayed action Monday night on a request by James Estes, township highway commissioner, that part of the township's income from federal revenue sharing funds be transferred to the highway department.

Estes told the board during a regular meeting that he believed the highway department should share in the revenue sharing funds, but members of the board questioned the legality of the use of the money for that purpose.

The highway commissioner disclosed two weeks ago that his department is without funds to meet current bills as well as meet additional costs of repairing roads that have been damaged by flood waters.

The board called a special meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the town offices, 825 Thorngate Drive, to discuss Estes' request with the township and highway department attorneys. Town Clerk Patricia Polley was instructed to invite a representative of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs to attend the meeting to answer questions pertaining to use of revenue sharing monies.

A meeting also was called for Thursday, May 31, at the Old Parish Hall in Mitchell to discuss a proposal by which Union Electric Co. would permit a lease for construction of a proposed township building on part of a buffer strip of land that extends 200 feet deep between Springfield Street in Mitchell to Route 111.

The buffer strip was created several years ago when the utility rezoned an area of Chouteau Township land for industrial purposes. At that time, area residents protested the rezoning to prevent industrial construction near their homes.

The 200 foot buffer strip was offered by the utility with the understanding that nothing would be built on it.

The township wants to use a site on this land for a proposed town building to house highway department equipment, but can agree to lease only if those persons who previously objected to the rezoning will agree to construction on the site.

Mrs. Polley said she is contacting all of the objectors in personal letters, asking them to attend the Thursday hearing or otherwise indicate their willingness for township construction on the buffer strip.

Nathaniel Boyd will sing two solo accompaniments. He will sing "I Asked the Lord" and "Put Your Hand in The Hand."

Train crashes into auto, two youths hurt

Two persons were injured when an auto believed by state troopers to be driven by Robert Young, 19, of 3801 Lake Drive, was struck by a Norfolk & Western Railroad train at 7:55 a.m. Wednesday at a crossing along Highway 162 about two miles east of Stallings.

Wilson had abrasions to the left shoulder and cuts and abrasions along the waist area. He was transferred to Jewish Hospital in St. Louis.

State troopers reported that the auto was headed south across the tracks at three to five miles per hour when it was struck in the left rear by the train going 40 to 45 miles per hour. The train crew was unhurt.

Four injured in 2-car Collision at Venice

Four persons were injured in a two-car collision at Broadway and Market Streets, Venice, at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

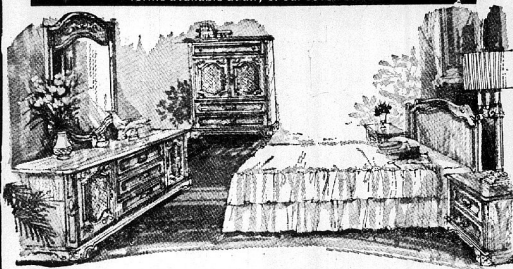

Police said the accident involved autos driven by J. B. George, 26, northbound on Broadway, and George Leonard, 71, of 639 Salveur St., Venice, who was westbound on Market street.

Mrs. Diana Watson, 20, of Brooklyn was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital after x-rays. Her daughter, Kimberly, was x-rayed, treated for a cut to the nose and released. Mrs. Watson's 21-month-old son, Kenneth, was transferred to Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis, suffering from cuts to both sides of the face. All were passengers in the George auto.

Leonard was admitted at the hospital suffering cuts to the left side, left forearm and left leg.

Golden Age seniors meet.

The Golden Age Senior Citizens' Club met at the Kirkpatrick Recreation Center Tuesday.

Mrs. Caroline Lux, vice president, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ruby Corbett. The Lord's Prayer and pledge to the flag were given in unison.

Mrs. May Finney announced that get well cards were sent to 10 members of the club. Mrs. Eva Durham conducted a memorial service for deceased members and a silent moment of prayer was offered by the group.

Birthdays for the month of May were observed. Cake and coffee were served and games were played. Prizes were awarded to Madeline Nola Heinzy, Clara Ledbetter, Anna Kruz, Minnie Kuschmidt, Leona Parsons and Georgia Butler.

Nancy Spiker becomes Mrs. Gary Thornsberry

Nancy Sue Spiker and Gary Lee Thornsberry were united in marriage in an evening ceremony on May 19 at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony at 7 o'clock was the Rev. William Fester and the Rev. Raymond Clontz of Iowa, an uncle of the bride.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Wilma Hicks, 4082 Sara Ave., and George Hicks of 51 Grandview Ave., Collinsville. Mr. Thornsberry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thornsberry, reside at 28 Waterman Ave.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. June Nightwine sang "Sunrise, Sunset" and "One Heart, One Hand," accompanied at the organ by David Long.

For her wedding, the bride chose an ivory pear de soie gown styled with a high waist re-embroidered in pearl de angel lace etched with pearls.

Short puffed sleeves were accented with scalloped lace. Her full skirt was fashioned with a very wide band of lace at the hemline.

She wore an ivory garden hat and carried a nosegay of spring flowers with baby breath.

Mrs. Phyllis Nunn was matron of honor and Miss Helen Hicks, bridesmaid, both sisters of the bride.

They were gownned in identical long dresses of lime silk chiffon. The yoke of the besque bodices was edged in ivory Venice lace and insertion ribbon. Matching trim was used around the collars and fitted cuffs.

Each attendant wore a hair braid picture hat to match their frocks and held a cord bouquet of mixed flowers.

Kathy Spiker was the flower girl and Brian Thornsberry served as ringbearer.

Attending the groom as best man was Gary Willaredt. Craig Thornsberry, a brother of the groom, was groomsmen and ushers included Phillip Griffith and William Hayes.

Both mothers selected formal-length dresses. Mrs. Hicks was in a pale blue polyester crepe with matching coat ensemble. The groom's mother, Mrs. Thornsberry chose a pink lace dress. Both wore corsages of carnations and sweetheart rose buds as ringbearer.

The newly married couple will reside in Granite City.

Jr. Service Club hears reports

The Granite City Junior Service Club met Monday evening with the president, Mrs. Mary Lou Worthen, presiding.

A report was given by Miss Flora Mae Lensing on two Easter baskets made by the members.

A report also was given on the Federation Luncheon which was held Saturday at Skaggs Restaurant by Mrs. Mary Lou Richardson. Mrs. Phyllis Grimm and Mrs. Worthen were delegates from the Granite City Service Club.

Mrs. Elmina Trachel will be the president of the Federation and Mrs. Mary Lou Richardson will be the corresponding secretary for the year. Both are members of the Granite City Club.

Mrs. Loretta Kerkovich gave a report on the mother and daughter banquet held at Charlie's Restaurant at which 50 persons were present.

Mrs. Beverly King gave a report on the visit to the Colonades Nursing Home where the members played games and observed birthdays of several of the patients.

Mrs. Loretta Kerkovich and Mrs. Linda Saltich are making plans for the bazaar being held in the fall. Plans are also being made for the Home Tour which is an annual event. Items for the bazaar are to be taken to the June meeting which is to be a potluck held at the Arlington Heights Golf Course.

Plan Grigsby parent-teacher-student unit

An organizational meeting of the Grigsby Junior High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association will be held Thursday, May 31, at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The PTSA is a new concept of PTA in this area. However, there are other units presently active within the state.

It is a national as well as statewide organization. It differs from the PTA in that the students are also dues-paying members who vote and hold office; are the president and treasurer, who must be 21 years of age or older. The organization is for either junior highs or senior high schools.

Bob Kirgan, director of the

Walker urges action on 21 appointments

Gov. Dan Walker on Tuesday disclosed a letter to Sen. William C. Harris, president of the Senate, urging the Senate to take action on 21 names submitted for advice and consent. "Attached is a list of pending appointments, some of which were submitted to the Senate as early as January of this year," Walker said in the letter.

"The delay inevitably hampers our ability to move ahead toward the goals of efficient and responsible government which we both share."

Walker added, "I see in the media that Sen. Harris seems to be concerned about the status of acting directors."

"Let the Senate get busy on the names it now has and quit worrying about acting directors. State government has operated for years with acting directors with no conclusive evidence that acting directors work any special hardship on the people."

Following is the governor's list of pending appointments requiring Senate confirmation: Nolan Jones, director, personnel.

Beverly Addante, assistant director, personnel.

M. S. Lieberman, chairman, Illinois Commerce Commission.

Michael Berz, member, Liquor Control Commission.

Lawrence Johnson, member, Liquor Control Commission.

Elroy Sandquist, member, Liquor Control Commission.

Nancy Philippi, assistant director, Local Government Affairs.

Dr. Mark Lepper, director, State Comprehensive Health Planning.

Dr. LeRoy Levitt, director, Mental Health.

Melvin Rosenbloom, member and chairman, Illinois Industrial Commission.

William J. Doyle, Joseph Longo, John Nolan, Margaret Sturgis, and Max Steinhilber, members, Parole and Pardon Board.

Roger Seaman, member, Pollution Control Board.

Joseph Craggs, member, State Mining Board.

Edmund Kozmowicz, superintendent of safety and education, Labor.

Peter Kosas, assistant director, Registration and Education.

Robert Pautler, assistant director, Mines and Minerals.

Leland Woodburn, assistant director, Agriculture.

A legal memorandum sent to the attorney general by the governor's counsel Tuesday warned that a ruling questioning the authority of acting directors "would place a legal cloud over all acts done by acting directors during preceding and present administrations."

The memo, prepared at the direction of Gov. Walker by William J. Goldberg, the governor's counsel, was sent after Comptroller George W. Lindberg requested an opinion on whether to pay acting directors. The memo continued:

"... for example, it could be maintained that each voucher signed by any acting director was invalid. Millions of vouchers could be called into question."

The memorandum said John W. McCarter Jr., acting director of finance in the Ogilvie Administration, signed every voucher issued by the code departments during the more than three years he held the position.

It also listed nine persons who served as acting directors during the preceding administration.

High proportion of Quad-City homes occupied by the owners

(Second of two columns)
Census Bureau statistics, not only tell a lot about people but also outline much about the way they live.
Granite City census figures show that 28,959 residents counted in 1950 occupied 8,570 dwellings; 30,332 in 1950 resided in 12,079 units; and 40,274 tallied in 1970 occupied 12,889 units. In addition, vacant units totaled 156,616 in 1950-60-70.
The tallies of owner occupied rental units occupied units rose from 5,624-3,246 to 8,694-3,385 and 8,999-3,870.
A breakdown of the 13,531 Granite City occupied and unoccupied dwellings shows 10,657 single-family abodes, 3,278 two-family or more units and 188 mobile homes.
The median number of rooms is 4.6 for owner-occupied dwellings and 3.7 in units that are rented.
A tabulation of per-person rooms shows 11,511 homes with one individual or less per room, 1,123 dwellings with 1.01 to 1.50 per room, and 233 with 1.51 or more persons in each room.
Median value of housing units has risen from $4,231 to $10,900 to $10,900 in the two decades, reflecting the impact of inflation as well as other factors.
Homes valued at less than $5,000 total 315, with the number rising to 691 of $5,000-$7,499; 1,110 of $7,500-$9,999; 1,616 of $10,000-$12,499; 1,475 of $12,500-$14,999; 994 of $15,000-$17,499; 692 of $17,500-$19,999; 811 of $20,000-$24,999; 446 of $25,000-$29,999; and 123 of $30,000 and greater value.
Age of dwellings is less than five years, 7,157; 5-9 years, 8,307; 10-19 years, 27,775; 20-29 years, 14,895; 30 years or more, 42,136.
Planning deficiencies are relatively rare—1.1% lacking water supply, 2.2% lacking exclusive bathroom use and 58.6% without sole use of a bathtub or shower.
Madison had 7,870 people in 2,463 units in 1950, 7,478 in 1970 and then 6,998 in 2,578 in the latest census. Vacancies numbered 48, 83 and then 195; and owner-tenant ratios were 1,300-1,000, 1,443-959 and, in 1970, 1,511-889.
Similar figures for Venice were 1950: 6,243 in 1,736 units, plus 32 vacant; 1,025 owners and 770 renters, 1960—5,368 in 1,525, with 47 vacant; 779-745, 1970—4,028 in 1,451, with 80 vacant; 688 occupied by owners and 763 by renters.
Madison's rental units are 1,882 and 887 single-family units, 588 and 483 multiple-family dwellings and eight Madison trailers and one Venice mobile home.
Median numbers of rooms in Madison and Venice are 4.6 and 4.8 for dwellings occupied by owners and 3.7 and 3.7 for rental units.
Persons-per-room in Madison and Venice are: one person per room or less, 2,885 dwellings or 88.1% and 1,089 units or 73.4%; 1.01 to 1.50 persons, 208 or 8.7% and 166 or 8.5%; and 1.51 or more persons per room, 78 in Madison or 3.2% and 116 in Venice or 12.1%.

Expediting of Great River Road railroad overpass south of Niedringhaus will speed highway extension south to Venice

The overpass is a key step in the process of extending the River Road project to Venice, where it will be linked with Broadway and the McKinley Bridge. Eventually, the route will connect with the East St. Louis area and then points farther south along the Mississippi River.
An added benefit is that scheduling of the overpass at this time is expected to enable some of the 1974-75-76 road improvement projects affecting the Quad-Cities to be scheduled for bidding a year early.

Plan studied to strengthen budget-making role of Congress

Comment by Press-Record bureau in Washington: Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve System has pinpointed congressional weaknesses to which even Congress itself is giving belated attention.
Burns told the graduating class at George Washington University that the method in which Congress considers budget proposals by individual programs without arriving at an over-all budget figure "is largely responsible for an almost uninterrupted succession of deficits."
Currently, lawmakers vote on individual appropriations, remaining in the dark as to how the particular program is linked to total spending.
Burns posed the problem clearly, noting that "with the economy expanding vigorously, with inflation persisting stubbornly, with our balance of payments in serious trouble, with two devaluations of the dollar just behind us, we cannot afford to continue large budget deficits."
A potential solution, however, has been fed into the ponderous congressional process that not only give Congress a measure of control over the total spending program, but bolster its position in its continuing battle with President Nixon over presidential powers.
Mr. Nixon has impounded in the name of fiscal responsibility funds appropriated by Congress, leading to cries of outrage from lawmakers jealous of their prerogatives and also leading to anti-impoundment court rulings.
The response would be more sympathetic if Congress could demonstrate its concern for economic stability.
A method has been proposed by a joint Study Committee on Budget Control, which recommends changes along lines envisioned by Burns.
A permanent budgetary committee with a professional, non-partisan staff would be established to oversee revenue and debt levels, to recommend spending limits and to measure the effect of appropriations.
Passage of the plan would mean the kind of oversight by Congress, often the rigid posture of Mr. Nixon and win the approval of the American people, who have a healthy concern for their own welfare.

CONCLUDES ABORTION IS LEGALIZED MURDER

To the Editor:
We are not to discuss Biblical analogy; adultery seems to have gained public toleration, if not complete acceptance.
The Supreme Court and judges have legalized murder. All this is another drop downward on the moral toboggan slide.
Biblical analogy from the Greater and Giver of life shows that, though you, sinners, human life is growing and developing. Now, the question is whether legal abortion amounts to legal permission to commit murder.

HIGH SCHOOLS DESERVE NAME OF INDIVIDUAL

To the Editor:
I don't know who names our schools but I have been disappointed in the naming of our high schools recently.
In a town that has only one true directional street should be rather lacking in thought or imagination to name them Granite South and Granite North—north and south of what? With a good citizen, native son, teacher and administrator, why was not the new one named for Mr. Lawrence McCauley?
We have Grigsby, Coddage and Prather, and while I personally knew, admired, liked and respected these persons and the schools are well named, none were actually native Granite Citizens.
If members of the School Board and the parents of children of Lake School and their concern over certain conditions at the school, my daughter will begin kindergarten at Lake School next fall.
After reading of conditions at the school which seem never to be totally repaired, such as the leaking roof which requires buckets in the hall, and the poor lighting, which is said to reach "minimum standards" (are the children not entitled to learn in the best of light?), I find myself quite upset.

Before starting school, I feel my daughter has already learned enough, to perhaps, give her a head start on some of the children. But I wonder how she will progress under such conditions as exist at present?
And if a learning center will continue to keep her fascinated with learning, then I'm all for it.
Money, says the School Board, is unavailable due to all the things needed.
But I believe it to be a question of priorities; in other words, what is the prime goal of the School Board—the first-rate education of our children, or such niceties as the formation of a string orchestra, the maintenance of the athletic field at the high school, etc.?
I believe a re-evaluation of priorities should be made, and I believe that if our children's basic educational requirements are put first, the School will be given better than "minimum" lighting in its classrooms, a new roof and, above all, a learning center. With such priority, the money will be available.

Watergate role by press helping preserve freedom

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Editor, Copley News Service

The free press of America is enjoying its finest hour in the history of the nation. It is the free press of the nation also are enjoying their finest hour.
Watergate and associated conspiracies, and this means the free people of the nation also are enjoying their finest hour.
This is so despite the anguish, the disgrace and the sickening aspects of this most stupid crime and the fact that it has reached into several departments of the government and the highest circles in the White House.
There are those who say Watergate is a minor part of government performance that it has run its course and that the time has come to turn to more important things.
However, the dishonesty in high places represented by Watergate is not a minor affair, there still is much more to come and nothing is more important than clearing the structures of those who have, at long last, shocked a public that once was only amused, then later reluctant to believe such misdeeds could be a part of high government.
There has been the arrogance of those close to the horrible affair — and there has been the persistence of the press, this persistence finally producing, nine months after the inept burglary and bugging attempt, President Nixon's speech in which he said, "I discounted the stories in the press... I remained convinced that the denials were true and that the charges of involvement by members of the White House staff were false."
During those months the press, particularly the "liberal eastern media establishment," the current administration, dug and dug and dug, and asked question after question of the press secretary Ronald Ziegler.
The press, particularly the "liberal eastern media establishment," the current administration, dug and dug and dug, and asked question after question of the press secretary Ronald Ziegler.

Yes, it is the finest hour for our profession of journalism, whose duty once was to defend the old-time U.S. editor as, "to tell the news and raise hell."
However, so long as the lies of Ziegler are around the press must continue to be as vigilant and as probing as were Pulitzer Prize winning Washington Post reporters Robert Woodward and Carl Bernstein. For, the coverage goes on.
The latest example is Ziegler's refusal to let administration officials cooperate with a National Press Club study of relations between the administration and the press.
Before Ziegler lowered the boom, Herb Klein, relegated to the innocuous position of "communications director" of the executive branch, and two others had cooperated. Ziegler ordered all others not to cooperate and warned that Klein was speaking only for himself, not for the Nixon administration. This seems one more reason why Klein might have served Mr. Nixon far better than Ziegler in the Watergate conspiracy. Klein, luckily, is not linked in any way to the mess.
Nixon people accuse the press (working in behalf of a free flow of information to the people) of being too nosy. One outstanding American, however, takes a different view. He is highly respected retired U.S. Circuit Court Judge Harold R. Medina, the man who presided over the 10-month 1949 trial of 11 persons charged with conspiring to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.
Medina defends the press in its fight against controls and said in a recent speech, "I say it is their duty to fight like gladiators right down the line and not give in an inch. This is the way our freedoms have been preserved in the past and it is the way they will be preserved in the future."
We have to hope there will be no more Watergates. But, if there are, the free press should behave as Medina and the brave men and women in the current tragedy of government.

Strauss is striving to pull Democrats out of debt

By JAMES CARY
Copley News Service

During his earlier March, 1970, to July, 1972, tenure as party treasurer, he was instrumental in reducing the Democrats' $9.5 million debt (largely left over from 1968) to $3.5 million, and is now considering a new fund-raising telephone to shrink it further.
As chairman he has carried this financial progress a step further by stimulating a sufficient number of donors to place the national committee's $100,000-a-month expenses of a campaign eventually turned over for full party use.
Joe Carter, Strauss' press secretary, says the major financial goals are to wipe out the remaining $3.5 million debt and get a leg up on accumulating the estimated $30 million that will be needed to run the next presidential campaign.
That's a lot of money. It will require a major effort but the party is close to the point where it can do it. Alastair, however, demonstrate major strength elsewhere, losing only 12 seats in the U.S. House when the Republicans had been expected to make big gains, and actually gaining two Democratic seats in the Senate.
They currently hold a 242 to 192 edge in the House, with one vacancy, and are in front 57 to 43 in the Senate. The party has also emerged with a 15-10 advantage in state governments and has control of both houses in 24 state legislatures.
Strauss has accomplished this partly by using contributors lists compiled by McGovern's organization in the 1972 campaign. The lists for a time were a subject of controversy with the party. McGovern's followers eventually turned them over for full party use.

Tragic events relived

DISASTERS; by A.A. Hoehling; Hawthorn; 208 pages; $6.95.

Reviewed by JOHN PINKERMAN
Copley News Service

A.A. Hoehling has written 17 books dealing with catastrophes, natural and man-made, and his "Disasters" permits readers to relive the drama of some American disasters and re-study the history of others.
His description of the 1944 Hartford Conn., circus fire fatal to 168 is perhaps the most riveting writing for one familiar with that tragedy. There were the mighty and the little known, burned, trampled or smothered to death. And there was "Little Miss 1968," named for her mortgage number. She was a girl seven or eight, blonde, blue-eyed and untouched by life flames.
A victim of suffocation, she never was identified, never claimed by parents. Each July 6, anniversary day of the fire, a retired policeman or fireman places a wreath on her grave.
Hoehling skips the Chicago fire and the San Francisco earthquake, but he dwells at length on the New York City draft riots of 1863. There was the lynching of blacks by the new Irish immigrants who returned to be drafted. There was the burning of police stations and rioting that required thousands of troops to quell. The death toll never was clearly established — somewhere between 1,000 and 3,000. It was madness of the worst order.
The Spanish flu epidemic of 1918 is covered, too, along with the New England hurricane of 1838, the 1960 Union Air Lines-TWA midair collision over Brooklyn and the Texas City explosion aboard the nitrate loaded Grand Camp with death to 560 persons.

A collection of dramatic pictures revives memories of some of the disasters Hoehling writes about — but it is his research and his storytelling skill that makes this book an exciting history of tragic events in American life.

Mozart's Così Fan Tutte to be staged at SIUE

The music department at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will present Mozart's Così Fan Tutte (Women are Like That) at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Communications Building theater. The public is invited, admission free.

The story concerns an elderly philosopher, Don Alfonso, who makes a wager with two officers, Ferrando and Guglielmo, that the ladies they love, Fiordiligi and Dorabella, will not remain true to them in their absence.

To test the truth of this it is announced that the officers must leave for military service. With the complicity of the maid, Despina, they return disguised as Albanians and make love to the ladies.

When they are rejected, they pretend to take poison. Despina, disguised as a doctor, restores them by magnetism. The ladies' hearts are softened. Alfonso wins his wager.

A. R. Sielaff to direct state corrections system

Gov. Dan Walker Thursday announced the appointment of Allyn R. Sielaff, head of the Pennsylvania prison system, as the new director of the Illinois Department of Corrections.

Sielaff, 41, has held positions in criminal justice and delinquency prevention since he was graduated from Western Reserve University (now Case Western Reserve University), Cleveland, Ohio, in 1953.

He is a lawyer and has a master's degree in social work, which he earned from Western Reserve in 1966.

The new director will assume his position in mid-June, after completing his duties in Pennsylvania. Meanwhile, he will visit Illinois periodically to familiarize himself with the state's correction system.

Sielaff was Illinois state director of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency from 1966 through 1968. The council is a private citizens group concerned with improving methods of preventing crime and delinquency.

Gov. Walker commented: "Allyn Sielaff will be stepping into one of the most difficult tasks in state government. I hope his appointment will receive prompt approval from the Senate."

"Mr. Sielaff is highly experienced in the field of corrections. He has been in the vanguard of professionalizing correctional officers and moving far meaningful prison reform. A strong, steady hand is needed to run our prison system. Mr. Sielaff has that kind of hand."

Sielaff's early experience in the field of criminal justice was with the Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court in Cleveland, where he served as a court referee, probation officer and group supervisor at the juvenile detention home.

He earned his law degree at Cleveland-Marshall Law School in 1960 and was admitted to the Ohio bar in 1961.

Sielaff has been an official of the Pennsylvania Department of Justice since August 1968, when he was named associate director of the Pennsylvania Crime Commission and coordinator of corrections programs and planning for the Bureau of Corrections.

Sielaff was named deputy commissioner for operations of the Bureau of Corrections in June 1969.

He was appointed commissioner of the Bureau of Corrections in October 1970. The Illinois system has 72 institutions and a population of 7,500 inmates.

Since assuming the Pennsylv-vania position, Sielaff has set up a comprehensive training program for correctional officers. All new correctional employees are now required to take a formal training course at one of three training academies in the state. They then undergo a six-week on-the-job training course, which includes all phases of corrections work, before being placed in their permanent jobs. Sielaff also has upgraded the quality of institution administrators through highly selective recruitment and on-the-job education so that most of the penal institution administrators in Pennsylvania now hold or are working toward master's degrees. Sielaff's salary as Ill. director of corrections will be $25,000. He was paid $24,980 in his Pennsylvania position.

A PRESS-RECORD CLASSIFIED AD BRINGS RESULTS

Monica S. Pithers and James Dresch are wed

The Wedding of Miss Monica Susan Pithers and James Daniel Dresch was solemnized May 19 at First Assembly of God Church, with the Rev. N. A. Groff officiating at the double-ring ceremony at 7 o'clock.

The altar was adorned with two spiral column candleabra and lighted tapers marked the pews.

Jack Jenkins, organist, and John Grindstaff, violinist, accompanied Mrs. Yvonne Albrecht, soloist, as she sang "One Love," "All of My Life," "Lord's Prayer" and "In Love We Gather."

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Pithers, 2817 Dogwood Drive, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dresch, Marine, Ill. Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Pithers wore a petite full-length gown fashioned in bridal satin and designed with a fitted bodice featuring a delicate Chantilly lace yoke and high scalloped collar.

The long, slightly-puffed sleeves terminated with wide cuffs closed with tiny satin covered buttons.

The natural waistline was defined with an inserted wide band and the slightly gathered skirt was accented with lace appliques.

A fully gathered lace flounce encircled the hemline and extended into a chapel-length train.

Her full mantilla veil of bridal illusion was edged with a fragile scalloped lace and she held a bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Glen Newman, sister of the bride, the honor attendant, served with bridesmaids, Miss Janice James, Miss Julie Edwards and Miss Laron Gosnell. Julie Platchek, the little flower girl, was escorted by the ring bearer, Michael Dresch, a brother of the groom.

The attendants chose flocked dotted swiss over polyester gowns fashioned with long full sleeves and wide cuffs, fitted bodices and scoop necklines. A ruffle edged the neckline and encircled the hem of the gowns.

A rainbow of colors, blue, lavender, yellow and mint green styled the gowns with the flower girl appearing in an identical gown as the bridesmaids, in pink.

Each carried a basket of multi-colored flowers and wore picture hats with accented bands of dotted swiss matching their gowns.

Dan James was best man, serving with David Dresch, brother of the groom, Jim Moran and Larry Scott as groomsmen. John Pithers, brother of the bride, and Russell Reiske, served as ushers.

Stewart Lewey and Michael Mercer were candlelighters.

VERSATILE CONSERVATION OFFICERS. The photo shows a portion of the detail of Illinois conservation officers and equipment assigned to rescue, patrol and surveillance duty at Chouteau Island during the Mississippi River flood this spring. About 30 officers of the Conservation Department served around-the-clock for two weeks, equipped with a dozen boats and a helicopter, to provide vide transportation for home owners, deliver sandbags and assist sheriff's personnel on water patrol. They delivered more than 2,000 filled sandbags per hour during the peak flood period. Men from this region, kneeling left to right, are Walter Knox, District Supervisor Maynard Kuhn, Conservation Officer, Donald Hastings of Madison County, Bill Maleski and George Semith.

HUGH HAIRSTON
EOC Treasurer

Hairston treasurer of Economic Commission

Hugh Hairston of Venice was elected treasurer of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission during a reorganization meeting at Edwardsville. The Rev. John G. Owens of Alton was elected president, and Richard Carter of Edwardsville and Julie Ross of Alton were elected vice-presidents.

Hairston also was chosen to represent the president at a meeting in Springfield of the Illinois State Community Action program to consider means of pressing for passage of legislation by which the state would take over the EOC program if the federal program is dropped. The Illinois House has before it a bill which would provide grants to community action groups if federal allotments are halted, Hairston said. Representatives of 73 counties attending the Springfield meeting agreed to contact their state representatives and urge them to support the legislation.

Madison crime rate decreased in April

The major crime rate in Madison decreased by 16 during April from that of the same month last year, it was reported at a meeting of the Madison City Council Monday night.

Thirty-two crimes were reported, compared to 48 the previous year. Included were criminal homicide, none, down two; robbery, two, down one; assault, five, down two; burglary, 11, up five; theft, 13, down 11; and auto theft, one, down five. Two vehicles were recovered.

Police made 63 arrests, including 3 traffic arrests, 14 other than traffic and 18 juvenile detentions.

There were 32 traffic accidents during the month. Police handled 1,661 reports during the month.

Drivers exam stations reorganized; 49 to close

Reorganization of drivers license examination stations throughout Illinois was announced today by Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state.

As part of the program, 49 exam stations will be closed July 1, 1973. Facilities in the remaining 89 operating stations will be upgraded to provide faster service to applicants.

"This reorganization is the result of a professional study on the services, activity and costs of every station in Illinois," Secretary Howlett said.

"It will increase efficiency throughout the state and put services on a far more realistic population balance."

"Our surveys have shown this plan will give improved drivers license service throughout the state, particularly in population centers," Howlett said.

Howlett noted that many of the stations have been operating on a haphazard basis, open only two or three days a week with limited hours. More than half of the scheduled to be closed stations have been staffed by only one examiner.

"Some of the stations which will be closed showed a cost breakdown of more than $30 per exam and these figures did not include rental charges and other necessary expenses," he added.

Howlett emphasized that the new plan was designed with traveling distance for applicants a prime consideration.

"Exam stations still will be a station with a 30-mile radius of every resident in the state," he stated. "The average traveling distance from the stations which will be closed to a nearby station is only 16.6 miles."

Locations of stations which will be closed July 1 include:

Albion, Amboy, Cambridge, Carlyle, Carrollton, Chester, DuQuoin, Elizabethton, Fairfield, Flora, Golconda, Granite City, McLeansboro, Metropolis, Morrison, Mount City, Mount Sterling, Murphysboro, Nashville, Newton, Okawville, Pana, Petersburg, Pinckneyville, Roanoke, Rochelle, Rushville, Savannah, Shawneetown, Shelbyville, South Beloit, Staunton, Stockton, Sullivan, Toledo, Virginia, Waterloo, West Frankfort, Wyoming and Winchester.

Driver dozes, injured; auto hits pole, meter

Mrs. Shirley Bishop, 29, of 1310 Eighteenth St., was injured when the auto she was driving struck a parking meter and utility pole at 3:10 a.m. Tuesday on 21st Street between Iowa Street and Washington Avenue. She told police she dozed at the wheel.

She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by ambulance with lacerations to the chin and was admitted following x-rays to the jaw, spine, skull and chest.

Ralph D. Brawley and Sgt. Harold Denham of the Pontoon Beach Police Department. All accepted the awards on behalf of the departments within the past year.

Law officers honored at Elks banquet here

About 150 persons attended the annual Elks "Law and Order Awards Banquet" to honor Quad-City law enforcement officers at the Elks B.P.O.E. 1063 Lodge here.

Awards were presented to the Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach police departments and to the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

Chief of Police Ronald Veizer accepted the Granite City department's award for traffic safety, community relations and training and professional ability advances during the past year.

Accepting Madison's award for improvements in the juvenile program was Madison Chief Frank Dutko.

Chief Ralph D. Brawley of Venice accepted his department's award for public relations and training and professional ability.

Sgt. Harold Denham represented the Pontoon Beach Police Department and accepted its award for expansion and Quad-City law enforcement and for training and professional ability.

The sheriff's department also was honored for training and professional ability. The award was accepted by Sheriff John Macraes.

Allen H. Andrews, acting director of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, was the keynote speaker and told the group that lack of communications between departments was one of the major problems facing law enforcement officials in the state.

He said there are 836 police departments in the state. "That's a problem right there," Andrews commented.

He also said the drug problem continues to grow and new methods must be found to stop drug abuse, particularly heroin traffic and use.

RIGHTS 'N' WRONGS

Brilliant daughter needs discipline

By RIV TOBIN
Copley News Service

Dear Mrs. Tobin:
I am a widow who does day household work to support myself and my 15-year-old daughter. She is a B student and has ambitions for college. She is popular with both boys and girls. What's my problem? She wants a wardrobe like a millionaire's daughter and is at me continuously to buy her a car. I barely squeak out bus fare to get to my job. I have to go into debt even though I expect Sharon will get a scholarship. Should I give in to her? I wouldn't want to lose her.

Concerned

Dear Concerned:
Sharon should be carrying her share of the family's financial burden. We all have to learn the limit of our buying power, and the earlier the better. I think you and your daughter should sit down and work out a budget. Perhaps if Sharon knows how much money is coming in, she'll be more realistic about the money that goes out. Do not give in to her extravagant ways. Her brilliant mind will be useless without proper discipline. Suggest that she get a weekend job at a department store. Most of them offer a percentage off on merchandise to their employees. With her own money to spend, I'll bet she becomes a thrifty shopper. The school guidance director probably knows of available jobs and can recommend Sharon.

Dear Mrs. Tobin:

I have been invited to a bridal shower to be given by the bride's mother and future mother-in-law. I do not believe it is proper for the bride's mother to give such a party but I do believe the groom's mother may do so. Please set me straight on this. A friend

Dear Friend:

You are correct. For the bride's mother to plan such a shower makes her look greedy on behalf of her

Hospital drug scene is worth a study trip

By PAT and MARILYN DAVIS
Copley News Service

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I have no friends just because I refuse to smoke or take drugs. I could have a lot of friends if I used drugs but I am afraid of what they might do to me. When I refuse, my friends call me names. What should I do? I am in the 8th grade.

Friendless

Dear Friendless:
Do you think that everyone who has friends uses drugs? There are many young people who view the drug scene as you do. Associate with this group.

No doubt, your school has given you all the facts about drugs and narcotic abuse and the dangers of experimentation and self-medication. Take a look at your teenage friends who use drugs. Are they developing talents and abilities to participate in society? Or are basic values destroyed, the incentive to study and work weakening, and the ability to make decisions diminishing?

An excellent object lesson for all teenagers would be to spend a part of one night at an emergency hospital. There they would see people hallucinating to the point of panic, others with nausea, stomach cramps and worse. Real life is more impressive than a film. Suggest to your teacher that she take a few of you on a real trip—a study trip to the nearest emergency hospital.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

Edward and I have been engaged for six months and our wedding date is set. I should be floating on Cloud Nine but am rapidly becoming a nervous wreck. About a week ago some of us were talking about premarital sex. As usual, we had a variety of opinions—some for, some against. Edward's remark is what upset me. He said, "Well I don't daughter. However, in many communities such strict etiquette is not followed. Having the future mother-in-law sharing the honor takes the sting out of it.

Special to Doris:

Would you buy a horse without knowing who its sire and dam were? Would you buy a house without finding out if there was a lien attached? Why settle for less in a husband? A man who hides his parents and all his past history has something more to conceal. Don't take a pig in a poke.

Special to Phillip in Mass.:

What makes you think Kathy, Mary Jane and Barbara aren't going to talk about their boy friend? Knock off the intrigue and play it straight across the board!

have to worry about Rena. If she hasn't let me touch her, I know she didn't let anyone else. Well, this is not exactly the facts of the case. Several years ago I was going steady with a boy. We decided to go all the way because we were going to get married "someday." Of course we didn't, but I learned a lesson and have walked the straight and narrow ever since. What should I say?

Rena

Dear Rena:

Nothing. You made a mistake and you learned a lesson.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I am 15 and don't have as many dates as some of my friends. I have a fair figure and try to be neat and clean. How can I get more dates?

Sandra

Dear Sandra:
It would be a complete foolishness to tell a 15-year-old not to worry about dates; however, don't let it rule your life.

Here are a few tips which may help. When a boy stops to talk, stay calm, cool, and sensible. Don't be loud, gushy and boisterous. If you overwhelm him, you may scare him away. A boy has to be at ease and comfortable before he can decide whether or not he likes you. A smile and pleasant friendliness can help him make the decision. In the meantime, don't worry you'll have plenty of time to play the dating game.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I have recently read your answer to Andy and I think it is a lousy answer. I felt I simply had to take exception with it. You said the beauty fashion of today is honest. That is a lot of nonsense. The fashion of today makes a pretty girl look like a gargoyle or a zombie. I am thankful that most girls don't slap on the paint like they do on TV. Andy said it was embarrassing. That was putting it mildly. I don't expect you to print this letter, but just in case you do, let me say to Andy, "Stick by your guns, boy. After all, who would want to marry a gargoyle or a zombie?"

Dear Ralph:

You said it and I printed it.

Ralph

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

My boyfriend and I are having an argument and decided to let you settle the problem. Hugh insists on wearing sunglasses all the time—even at night. He even drives with them on. I say this is unsafe. Don't jump the gun and say he may be taking drugs because he is not.

Sarah

Dear Sarah:

You are absolutely correct. The American Optometric Association suggests that you obtain sunglasses from your optometrist. Because individuals differ in their tolerance to bright light, your vision care specialist can determine the tint and density you need. Wearing sunglasses is an advantage. But, NEVER wear sunglasses at night.

For those who like their music loud, powerful and intense, Atlantic Records has just released two LPs that are sure to fill the bill.

Led Zeppelin, one of the world's super heavy groups, continues to maximize its potential and explore new musical regions with "Houses Of The Holy," their fifth album for Atlantic. Jimmy Page shows his mastery of the guitar with the perfectly integrated inclusion of a double-neck six and twelve-string instrument that provides a focus for the band. Alternating sizzling six string leads with majestic twelve string chord figures that give Robert Plant's vocals continue to mature and extend in terms of lateral possibilities, while John Paul Jones' bass, piano, mellotron and synthesizer flesh out each track and provide the perfect melodic counterpart for Page's guitars. John "Bonzo" Bonham's drums have the resounding authority and gut power that have made him one of the best rock drummers around. Four gifted musicians who have become a major influence on contemporary music with four million plus selling albums, Led Zeppelin continues to confirm its position in the "superstar" rock pantheon with another great album.

Best cuts are "The Rain Song," "The Crunge," the old T-Rex "Dyer Mak'er" and "Dancing Days."

Another blockbuster is "Bloodshot," the fourth power-packed LP from the legendary "belters" from Beantown," the J. Gels Band. The record itself is red or bloodshot, and combines the band's distinctive blend of light, coherent, and super-energy R&B and blues with original tunes and melodies that add a whole new side to the group's collective personality.

Everybody's playing has matured and the individual solo "hot licks" by J. Gels, lead guitar; Magic Dick, bass; and Seth Justman, keyboards, definitely stretch out from the root blues forms that have played such an important part in their development.

The rock-bottom power of the bass-drums combo of Danny Klein and Stephen Jo Bladd moves the proceedings along at the right energy level, and Peter Wolf's vocals continue to grow more distinctive and assured with every cut. The key to this album is the growth of the material and the band's collective abilities. This is one to "rove the J. Gels band into the very forefront of contemporary music where they belong.

Some of the top cuts include a reggae style "Give It To Me," "Make Up Your Mind," the oldie ("Ain't Nothin' But A House Party" and "Start All Over Again."

It was nearly a decade and a half ago and Norman Granz was taking his concept of Jazz at the Philharmonic around the world. In the entourage that ranged around Europe in 1958-59 were such jazz greats as Dizzy Gillespie, J. J. Johnson, Benny Carter, Stan Getz, Coleman Hawkins, Jo Jones, Art Davis, Cannonball Adderley, Lalo Schiffrin, Candido and Roy Eldridge.

Strictly top of the line, all the way. Verve brings some of those memorable years to life again in an LP called "Jazz Philharmonic Europe." The sessions on this two-record LP are each at least 11 minutes long as the combo takes trips through "All The Things You Are," "Kush," Ellington's "The Mooch," the frantic "Wheatleigh Hall," "Bernie's Tune," and "Swedish Jam." Super-chops Gillespie is as good as he's touted to be on these variations. As usual, Johnson swings the trombone like it was a trumpet. And what a contrast between Hawkins and Getz on tenor sax—Hawkins raw and throaty, and Getz muted and so cool. Top jazzmen—under one tent.

Decorating hints -- Mirrors can prove to be useful in brightening dull room

By BARBARA HARTUNG
Copley News Service

Q. We have a dull dining room that is 15 by 17 feet, with wood floors, plain, uninteresting walls — just to personal-ity. There are two doors going into the living room with a 48-inch wall between them and one door into the kitchen. I'd like it to be rather formal as our living room is (some French antiques). I would like to use the room as a library, too. — T.T.

A. If you want your room to do double duty and your walls are uninteresting, why not build some shelves for books for its library use. To make plain shelves more elegant why not get a carpenter to do you some plywood arches that you could place in front of the shelves to give a traditional feeling, adding some molding and painting the wall color — for example, off-white. You might carry out the arched look over the doors leading out of the dining room-library to tie the room together. You might paint one other wall a solid bright color to give more drama to the room or you might consider applying a solid color bright vinyl or felt to the wall. Consider mirror tiles, too, because they can create more drama and are delightful in a dining room. In selecting a dining table, why not choose a library table — commodious enough to seat the number of guests you like to serve but also convenient for writing and reading for one or two persons. Library tables are generally narrow-er, of course, then a rectangular dining table, so supplement it with a serving cart that could double as a buffet for serving. If you chose to do a large buffet you could serve on the library table or you could possibly push the library table against one wall and set up individual small tables (like cardtables) when you wanted to serve more than six or eight at your single library table.

Q. My husband and I are retired and we are doing a lot of traveling. We've become photography bugs and are always bringing home dozens of shots. I'd like to display some of these in the dining room on one wall that is blank. I think we could use about 10 or 12 pictures in an 8-by-10-inch size in color. However, I'd like to be able to change them whenever we go on another journey. Any ideas? — P.E.

A. There are some clear plastic boxes on the market that fit over a slightly smaller cardboard box. They're available in a variety of sizes and allow you to place pictures in between the two boxes. They have a contemporary traditional frame to them and they are extremely easy to change. Or if you can't find them, go to a frame shop and explain what you need. A good framer can do this with slide-out pins. You have a good idea for personalizing your home and re-living your trips over and over.

Q. We have nine steps in our entry hall apartment leading up to our living room. I do not want to carpet the lovely wood floor and wood steps. But the stairs look rather uninteresting. Have you any ideas? I thought about carpeting a center section of the wide steps but that doesn't sound too exciting. — L.R.O.

A. I once saw a designer's solution to a problem that sounds similar to yours. Interesting ceramic tiles were laid on the risers so when you view the steps from below you have an interesting pattern. I would think you could do this with any type of ceramic tile or vinyl you would choose.

Q. What does a roll of wallpaper cover? Is it standard?

A. Usually a roll of wallpaper contains 36 square feet although you can only count on about 30 usable square feet of that. When buying paper, you are often quoted prices per single roll but you must buy a double or triple roll. So figure carefully. The best way is to measure the room and then figure out how many doors, windows (sides, too) and cupboards there are. Take these dimensions to the store when ordering.

Q. I'd like to give some texture to my living room walls that are wallpaper. I want to use paint instead of going to the expense of wallpaper. Is there some way to create a slight texturing — nothing as heavy as the plastered look of Mediterranean walls? — M.W.

A. You might experiment a little. First try putting sand in with your rubber base wall paint. This can give you some texture and an odd sand and sea you go until you get the look you like. Also experiment with putting spackle in the paint. This is the same material you use to fill holes in the wall board. I have seen this used on bookshelves and it produces what is really a pleasing look. The spackle thickens the paint, of course, and gives a heavy brush strokes. I think you could give your walls a striated effect this way and that could be interesting.

Poverty guidelines for free school meals set

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced income poverty guidelines for determining children's eligibility for free or reduced price lunches and breakfasts in the 1973-74 school year.

The new guidelines are being issued now to give school boards and administrators as much lead time as possible to plan and budget for the coming school year.

Use of the guidelines is mandatory for all schools in the National School Lunch Program, in the School Breakfast Program, or receiving federally-donated foods, starting July 1. These guidelines establish the minimum level for free meals. All children from families at or below such levels shall be served a free meal.

In addition to the national guidelines, all state educational agencies are to set income guidelines, for both free and reduced-price meals by family size, for use by schools in their states. The state guidelines may not be lower than those set by USDA, and may not exceed the USDA guidelines by more than 25% for free meals, or 50% for reduced price meals.

The new guidelines are up some 34% from those for the 1972-73 school year. The income eligibility minimum for a family of four, for example, goes from $4,110 to $4,250, based on the year to year change in the Consumer Price Index. This adjustment procedure is consistent with the procedure used by the Bureau of the Census in updating its statistics on poverty levels. Levels for Alaska and Hawaii vary from the guidelines for the 48 states and reflect an increase proportional to the cost of living in those areas.

In applying guidelines, school authorities may consider both the income of the family during the past 12 months and the family's current rate of income to determine which is the better indicator of the need for free and reduced price meals. "Income" means income before deductions for income taxes, insurance premiums, bonds, etc.

In determining eligibility of children for free or reduced-price school meals, local administrators are also authorized to consider specified family hardship situations.

In determining a family's income level, consideration is given to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30% of total income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses.

The department also published a final amendment to its poverty guidelines for fiscal year 1973. This amendment will cover special hardship conditions in the current school year.

Income poverty guidelines for fiscal 1974, listing family size, USDA guidelines (minimum for free meals), increased 25% (maximum for free meals) and increased 50%, maximum for reduced prices, in that order, follow:

One	$2,190	$2,740	$3,280
Two	$2,880	$3,600	$4,320
Three	$3,570	$4,460	$5,360
Four	$4,260	$5,310	$6,380
Five	$4,950	$6,160	$7,320
Six	$5,510	$6,890	$8,260
Seven	$6,060	$7,600	$9,120
Eight	$6,650	$8,310	$9,980
Nine	$7,170	$8,960	$10,750
Ten	$7,680	$9,600	$11,520
Eleven	$8,190	$10,240	$12,290
Twelve	$8,700	$10,880	$13,060

For each additional family member, add $510, $640, $770.

Top state school post presents legal puzzles

Copley News Service

Springfield — Illinoisans may be asked next year to vote on what they want to do with the state school superintendent's office.

Under the terms of the current constitution when Supt. Michael J. Bakalis ends his current term he will be the last person to be filling that office through the elective process.

He was elected to a four-year term in 1970, and in the meantime the voters approved a new constitution which called for the appointment of the school superintendent, the state's chief school officer.

New the General Assembly has been wrangling on how this appointment will be carried out. Some lawmakers feel that a board should be formed with the power to appoint a superintendent. But in this area not only is the matter of appointing the superintendent causing problems, another one has crept up on how the board will be made up.

Some legislators feel that the members should be elected to the board on a regional basis from regions formed by the grouping of counties. Some say the board members should be appointed by the governor. Of course the board, when and if it is ever formulated, would have the general control over the present operations of the superintendent's office.

There is also a general feeling among some lawmakers that perhaps the superintendent, starting in 1975, should be appointed by the governor. Bills covering both plans have at one time or another hit the legislative hoppers.

Because of this continuing turmoil, Rep. John E. Friedman, R-South Elgin, introduced a resolution in the House calling for a vote as to whether or not this should be an elective office. The resolution actually is in the form of a constitutional amendment. It has cleared the House and has been sent to the Senate.

Friedman points out that all of the present state officers are elected by the people. Friedland feels that perhaps the people should be given another chance at the matter.

There are no indications at this time just how it will fair in the Senate.

Three students cited at SIUE for service

Three students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville received the Distinguished Service Award at the annual Honors Day program. East St. Louis; Walter Hall, Litchfield; and Thomas Pospisil, Wood River.

Greenwood helped organize the Student Association for Education at the East St. Louis Center and served from 1970 to 1972 as its vice president. He co-authored a student tutorial program for work study. He was student representative on the Comprehensive Education Commission, the East St. Louis Faculty Advisory Council and the Citizens Advisory Council.

Greenwood served as liaison between the Black Student Association at Edwardsville and the East St. Louis Center and supervised and coached a juvenile baseball team in the Jackie Robinson Khoury League. He will graduate June 9 with honors and will begin the study of law next September under a Danforth Fellowship at St. Louis University.

Chairman of Young Americans for Freedom from 1970 to 1972, Hall was editor of the Young Americans for Freedom Newspaper in 1971, served in several capacities on the University Senate and is a charter member of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity. He has served as a reported for the Aleste, the school newspaper, and was named in 1971 to Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

Pospisil was a member of the Student Senate budget committee in 1970-71 and president of the University Center Board in 1971-72. A member of the Association of College Unions, he served on the international executive committee and was a student delegate chairman to Region IX in 1971-72. In 1972 he was named Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The Distinguished Service Award is the highest honor a graduating senior can receive for participation and leadership in extracurricular activities. Recipients of this award are selected by a committee appointed each year by the vice president for student affairs.

Ramon Williamson, vice president for student affairs, presented the awards.

Cocktail party planned for House Speaker Blair

By AL MANNING
Copley News Service

Springfield — House Speaker W. Robert Blair will take time out from shepherding bills through the Legislature long enough to collect some campaign money in June.

There will be a $50-a-ticket cocktail party June 4 at the Holiday Inn East in Springfield in his honor.

Blair comes from a safe GOP district in Park Forest, so the need for campaign money for an election over a year away is not apparent, unless you consider him to be building a gubernatorial war chest. He says it is to "raise some money for whatever my future political plans might be."

The timing of the affair is of critical importance because of the speaker's ability to assist special interests as the session draws to a close.

While lobbyists will dare not purchase a ticket? With his favorite bill before one of the committee chairmen picked by Blair, a lobbyist is going to think twice before snubbing a money solicitor.

Blair, of course, sees nothing wrong with the practice. Although it is being held in the Capital City, the sponsors are listed as Will County Republicans Tom Feehan and Walter Herschbach.

"They suggested it," Blair said. "They are handling it. I will not talk to anyone about funds. I have a hands-off policy; turned it all over to my committee."

"That's the nothing unusual about it," he said. "Others are having one, too."

If that's the case, other lawmakers just have a better kept secret, Senate Republicans who held a "Thirty for Thirty" (30 GOP senators: $30 donation) affair early in the session are having another one for the benefit for all the members after the session.

Blair is the one who has been plumping for a law which would require public disclosures of campaign contributions for state candidates much the same way federal candidates are required to disclose. A bill he co-sponsored on the matter garnered 84 votes, five short of passage.

But in the absence of any requirement, the speaker will not voluntarily disclose even though he says disclosure "does not bother me at all."

The reason, he says, is because it would be unfair for him to do it unilaterally. Just about everybody uses that excuse, except Comptroller George Lindberg, who itemized his money sources and came out the better for it in the November election.

Watergate has done enough to shatter the public's confidence in their public officials but the secret money deals in the Legislature don't help bolster anybody's confidence.

Do people who have Nite Lite service sleep better?

Probably.
Nite Lite is the automatic outdoor watchman that stands on at dusk, casts a wide beam of light around your premises all night. At dawn, Nite Lite turns itself off.

Outdoor lighting is one of the best security measures you can take. That's because thieves, vandals and prowlers must have five feet to work under the cover of darkness. With Nite Lite service your premises are never dark after dark.

If you have a home or a business in an area not illuminated by street lighting, consider Nite Lite service. A monthly rental charge covers installation, maintenance and all the electricity to light uses.

Unusual courses offered at McKendree College

"What You Always Wanted to Know About Yourself But Were Afraid to Find Out" is the title of one of the new courses to be offered at McKendree College in Lebanon during the summer term which begins June 11 with registration.

The course will be taught by Dr. Dean Thomson, assistant professor of speech who has worked in all areas of communication. The course will be an informal workshop approach to an examination of how relationships are formed and will cover self-confrontation, validating others, and the building of human relationships.

The summer school curriculum has several invigorating new programs, according to Vice-President Emeril Owen, who is in charge of academic affairs.

New students will be accepted for credit by meeting the regular requirements and also on an audit basis for those who are interested in furthering their knowledge without credit. Students who are auditing pay half the regular course fees.

Unusual courses this summer include:

A seminar in arts and crafts, known as "Do Your Own Thing for Credit," taught by Prof.

William Hodge.

Federal aid in research among symposium topics

The latest developments in research opportunities, new programs, proposal development and federal funding for the next fiscal year will be discussed Friday at a symposium at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Entitled "Federal Support for Research in Science and Education," the symposium is being sponsored by the SIUE Graduate School in cooperation with the School of Dental Medicine, the Science and Technology Division, and the Education Division.

According to Sally Page, resources analyst in the Graduate School's office of research and projects, some of the leading authorities in the nation will speak at the symposium, including representatives of the National Science Foundation, National Institutes of Health, the U. S. Office of Education, and the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

All members of the SIUE faculty who are interested in extramural research grants and contracts, federal agencies' priorities for research, and an opportunity for individual discussions with federal and state program officers, are being urged to attend the sessions which will be held at the Edwardsville Holiday Inn, on the Edwardsville campus of SIUE, and the Alton campus of the School of Dental Medicine.

The symposium will begin with registration at the Holiday Inn from 8:30 to 9 a.m. Introductory remarks and a welcome from SIUE President John S. Rendleman will be given at 9 a.m., followed by comments on research at SIUE by Howard S. Dye, dean of the Graduate School.

Other speakers at the morning session at the Holiday Inn will include Carl D. Douglas, Washington, D. C., deputy director of the Division of Research Grants, National Institutes of Health; Holt Ashley, Washington, D. C., director of the Office of Exploratory Research and Problem Assessment, National Science Foundation; and Mary Jane Calais, Chicago, regional commissioner for Region V, U. S. Office of Education. They will discuss latest developments in the National Institutes of Health, research priorities, and regionalization of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Following a luncheon, topic discussions will be held at five locations on the Edwardsville and Alton campuses, from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Individual discussions with participants and tours of University facilities are scheduled from 3:15 to 5 p.m.

The topics to be discussed, discussion leaders, and locations include:

"Research Trends and Objectives at NIDR," Anthony A. Rizzo, Washington, D. C., periodontal diseases program chief, National Institute of Dental Research, School of Dental Medicine, Alton.

"Research in Illinois," Sally Pancrazio, Chicago, director of the research statistics section of the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Mary Jane Calais, regional commissioner for the U. S. Office of Education, Peck Building 0312.

"Research Opportunities in Math and Physical Sciences," William E. Wright, Washington, D. C., director of the Division of Mathematical and Physical Sciences of the National Science Foundation, Peck Building 0409.

Tree trunk stockade will protect prehistoric city at Cahokia Mounds

By JOAN MURRAY
Copley News Service

Illinois archaeologists are rebuilding a wooden stockade to protect a city which hasn't existed in the memory of man.

Dr. Bruce McMillan of the Illinois State Museum's archaeology department, said the tree trunk wall is being partially restored in order to make more clear the real scope of the development of Cahokia Mounds, in southern Illinois, site of a prehistoric metropolis which probably had a far-flung series of "suburbs" as far away as Dickson Mounds in the center of the present state.

Archaeologists know the palisade was there and that it was built of tree trunks, because even after the centuries that have elapsed, the dark marks of the decayed buried bases can still be seen when the topsoil is removed.

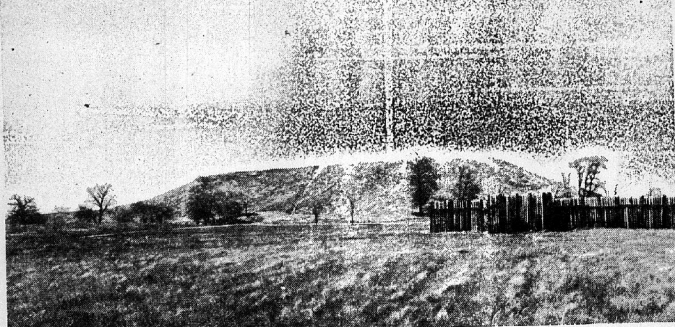

But "many people can't really relate to a series of dark circles in the ground," Dr. McMillan said. "If you put a few trunks back where they once were and say 'this is how it was,' then visitors can begin to appreciate what a thing this was."

The Cahokia Mounds settlement flourished around A.D. 1200, and by the time the earliest white arrivals visited the area they found absolutely nothing to indicate that a highly sophisticated population had once built a complex community there. The builders themselves had scattered and disappeared and it is not known today which, if any, of the early Indians living in the area when white men first arrived, were descendants of the Cahokia Mounds builders.

In other archaeological areas, as usual, some out-of-state archaeologists will be coming into Illinois, and some Illinois archaeologists will be going outside the state in the coming summer "dig" period.

The round-robin effect reflects the fact that the evolution occurred in regions, not by states, and widely scattered projects this summer will all be attempting to add to previous knowledge of what the sons did to the entire Mississippi-Illinois area.

Dr. McMillan and Dr. James King, also of the Illinois State Museum staff, have received a National Science Foundation grant for continuing study of the late Ice Age in the Boney Springs area in Missouri. Dr. King will specialize in biological aspects of the period as unearthed from the ancient springs, and Dr. McMillan will focus on the effects of changing environments on early people. The springs have already yielded the remains of one of the largest mastodons ever recovered in this country.

Representatives from the University of Wisconsin will return to continue work at Cahokia Mounds, while Dr. Walter Klippel, associate curator of anthropology for the state museum, will head up a series of projects seeking new archaeological sites in the Clinton, the Oakley Reservoir site area near Decatur will also be studied.

An intensive archaeological survey of the Sangamon River valley in central Illinois will be undertaken to learn how man adapted to the prairie in prehistoric times. Utilizing students, surveys will search for sites, interview area farmers about terrain and possible artifact finds, and do field inspections.

Some work will also continue in the Dickson Mounds area, and other digs are planned at Charleston; in the southern American bottoms near St. Louis; the lower Illinois River valley and, under the sponsorship of Northwestern University, at the Koster site near Kampsville.

In many areas, Dr. McMillan said, archaeologists continue to face the bulldozers and the paving crews as expanding cities spread out and engulf archaeological sites.

Speech, hearing therapists at SIUE helping all ages

The Speech and Hearing Clinic at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has come a long way since its inception in 1964, with only one staff member. Today the staff has increased to seven but the number of graduates has increased at an even greater rate.

In 1967 two students received bachelor's degrees in speech pathology. On June 9 of this year 34 will receive bachelor's degrees and 7 the master of science degree.

The training program is now emphasizing the master's degree, according to its director, George Kurtzrock. After July 1 an advanced degree will be needed to obtain a certificate in this field to work in Illinois schools, he explained.

"SIUE will offer a pre-professional bachelor's degree in speech and audiology but students must then enroll for graduate study here or at another university," Kurtzrock said. "This isn't a recent change in the profession," Kurtzrock continued. "Since 1965 the American Speech and Hearing Association has required a master's degree for membership. This each week for therapy. Other clients are stroke victims with speech and hearing difficulties.

"Most speech therapists work with children, since the aim of therapy is to prevent problems as well as correct them," Kurtzrock explained. "However, there are many opportunities for working with adults. Some speech and hearing problems do not develop until the person is beyond childhood. Aphasia, for example, strikes at middle age or older."

The biggest modification in the clinic, according to Kurtzrock, is the re-institution this year of audiology service. Rodney Pelson, new this year, supervises this program, which includes hearing evaluation and hearing aid consultation. This summer there will be an aural rehabilitation program for adults who have lost some or all of their hearing, he said.

"Lack of laboratory space is critical," Kurtzrock said. "We need more space so that we can make our services available to more children and adults."

"We have an unusually well qualified staff," said Kurtzrock, who came to SIUE last fall to direct the Speech and Hearing Clinic. "I can't say enough about its qualifications, experience and dedication. Three are certified in both speech pathology and audiology, five in speech only and one in audiology only. Four of us have at least 20 years of experience."

In addition to its academic program, the Speech and Hearing Clinic has a laboratory where students in speech and audiology pathology work with persons having communication problems. Clients come from as far as 50 miles away.

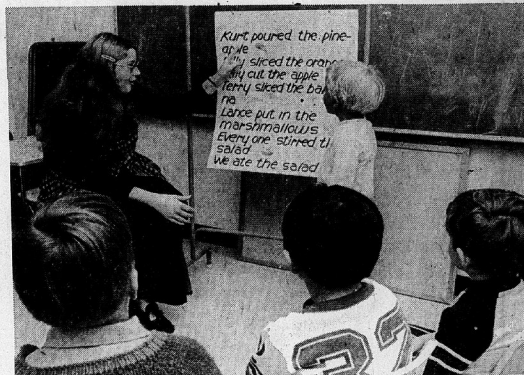

"We do both diagnosis and therapy for all age groups," Kurtzrock said. "We charge a nominal fee to help support our graduate students."

Some of the students are working in nursing homes, some at the medical center at Scott Air Force Base and some at the Specialized Services Center in Alton. All kinds of clients receive help at the SIUE center. The gamut runs from a student having problems using the three tons, $16 for four to five tons the foreign wife of a faculty member overcoming a language barrier. Other problems brought to the center include stuttering, articulation, hearing loss

Lost City of Atlantis 'found' by 9th graders

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

When you were in the ninth grade general science classes did you ever take a trip to Mars or travel to the lower depths of the ocean in an atomic submarine searching for the Lost City of Atlantis? The three general science II classes of the Grigsby Junior High School ninth grade under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Mueller have done just that—almost.

It's not a game but a realistic science project requiring much work and research by the students.

Currently the students are studying oceanography and have produced a video tape simulating an underwater adventure, entitled "The Gilgamesh in Search of Atlantis."

The students built the stage sets of cardboard, made paper-mache fish and produced special sound and lighting effects to enhance their script, which the ninth graders also wrote.

Some of the underwater activities included a night dive by the sub Gilgamesh, a shark fight, spearing a founder and the eventual discovery of Atlantis.

Hours of research were done by the students so that the situations of the underwater experiences are authentic.

Last semester they studied space and took a trip to Mars.

Granite Cityans hope to set new Monopoly record -- submerged in 'Y' swimming pool

Millions of Monopoly players have been left high and dry as losers of the famous board game, but all participants in a June 1 Monopoly marathon here can only emerge alive. Precisely at the stroke of midnight on that day, a group of three men and a woman decked out in scuba gear will be lowered into the swimming pool of the Granite City YMCA to begin what they hope will be a double record-breaking underwater Monopoly game.

If all four players remain submerged for over 12 hours, they will break the record set in June 1971 by four students at DeAnza College in Cupertino, Calif.

The four participants are Ron Kibort, 30, Philip Lamm, 21, Mike Henderson, 21, and Debbie Holt, 20. Kibort and Lamm are co-owners of East Side Divers Supply Co. in Granite City and Henderson and Holt are instructors with the company.

If that record is broken, the waterlogged gamesters will be joined by 40 to 50 others and will play in teams of four in an attempt to break the 90-hour team record set in October 1972 by members of a high school fraternity at Tropicana Pools in Orlando, Fla. That record would be broken at 2 a.m. on June 3.

Prior to the Orlando record, the longest team game of underwater Monopoly was a 36-hour spectacular played by eight high school students in the Monte Vista High School pool in Cupertino.

The notion of playing "Monopoly" while submerged in water was the brainchild of the Fidelity chapter of the Order of DeMolay, Beverly, Mass.

In the spring of 1967, the group was planning to go for a new scuba record, using the pool at the New England Divers club, and it was decided that playing "Monopoly" might be a good way to relieve underwater boredom.

The problem of securing a "Monopoly" game that could be effectively used underwater was solved with the cooperation of a close neighbor of the DeMolay headquarters, Parker Brothers, manufacturers of the game, located in nearby Salem, Mass.

By working full time for three weeks, Parker designed and made by hand a "monopoly" game that could be used underwater, a project that reached a cost of over $500.

The 42-pound set was specially constructed so that it would be waterproof as well as suitable.

Actual components of the set were taken off the normal production line. The board label was laminated between several sheets of cellophane to give a glass-like quality.

New state referral service for teachers

By MARY LOU MANNING

"Copy News Service Springfield... Time was when a degree in education and a teachers' certificate were a dime a dozen. Some young men became teachers to avoid the draft, young women became teachers because they thought it was the thing to do.

Finally, the supply caught up with the demand in 1969.

Although the situation hasn't drastically changed, the number of teachers graduating this year in Illinois is 3,776, fewer than last year, according to statistics compiled by the office of the superintendent of public instruction.

To help these new teachers—as well as veterans in this field—find a job in Illinois, the OSPI has instituted a Registration and Referral Service.

Begin May 1, the service works something like this: A person with a background in education desires a job in Illinois. He then notifies the teacher placement office in the OSPI and registers with this service, giving the type of position desired and geographical area of availability.

A school district seeking an employee may, in turn, contact the service and receive a list of suitable applicants.

"As of May 15, a total of 122 candidates has been added to the service," Darrell Elder, assistant director of teacher placement for OSPI, said. "And one school district has asked for a list of candidates for a specific field."

Applications have come from as far away as the Philippines and Mexico, according to Elder. Candidates range in experience from the newly-graduated to 29 years.

They cover all areas of education, including librarians, psychologists, social workers and administrators as well as teachers. The only criteria is a desire to work in the education field in Illinois.

The OSPI also distributes a monthly teacher vacancy list to persons desiring it. The type of opening, location and pertinent information are included in the bulletin.

City to employ GC firm to engineer MFT projects

The Granite City Council Monday night authorized Mayor Paul Schuler to contract with the S. P. Morgan & Schwaab engineering firm of Granite City to serve as the city's motor fuel tax engineer for the remainder of the 1973 year.

The local firm will replace M. W. Architects and Engineers, Inc., of St. Louis which served as MFT engineers for the city last year. The M. W. contract expired Jan. 1.

Alderman Emerald Dawes who made the motion to effect an agreement with Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab noted that the M. W. firm had submitted a proposal to continue as MFT engineer only on city maintenance work, while the Granite City firm proposed to handle both design and maintenance engineering.

"M. W. doesn't want to do design work, but we need someone who can do both design and maintenance work," Dawes said.

The M. W. firm is the city's special engineer for the second-year sewage treatment program. Alderman Clyde Boyd questioned the council proceeding without first determining the cost rates, but Dawes said the proposed contract with Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab would be based on the same rates paid to the M. W. firm during 1972.

The contract was authorized on a 9 to 4 roll call vote.

Dawes then moved that the council authorize City Clerk Robert Stevens to advertise for a city engineer on a fulltime basis. The advertisement will be placed in engineering periodicals. The Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab firm now serves as the city's consulting engineer.

Alderman David Basarich said he had had "some sad experiences" on the finance committee and said he believed some one else may do a better job. He said he believed that members of the Special Service Committee should be aldermen who have particular problems in wards "where this type of planning is needed."

He said he had no intention of shirking his duty and that he will continue to work with the city officials in all their efforts.

Schuler names 3-man fire, police board, appoints nine others to city posts

Mayor Paul Schuler appointed a three-man Board of Fire and Police Commissioners Monday night to resolve a challenge to the political makeup of a board he had named when he took office as mayor on May 1.

Acting during a regular City Council meeting, Mayor Schuler also announced the appointment of nine other persons to city departmental posts and to memberships on the City Plan Commission, the Air Pollution Control Board and the Animal Shelter Board.

To the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners the mayor appointed George Becker, a business representative of the Granite City subdivision of the United Steelworkers of America; employer and former city clerk, and Elmer Miller, owner and operator of the City News Co.

Schuler named Becker and Pendleton as fire and police board members when he took office May 1, but held up on the third appointment because Miss Betty Sheppard, the third member of the board that served under former Mayor Donald Partney, had not resigned.

Subsequently, Warren Decatur, a former board member whose term expired this year, challenged the legality of the new board's makeup on grounds that Becker, Pendleton and Miss Sheppard were all registered Democrats. Decatur contended that in accordance with law governing the fire and police board, not more than two of its members could be of the same political affiliation.

The effective date of the appointments was made as of Monday night.

After the appointments were announced, Alderman Walter Nomm of the Fifth Ward asked Schuler if Miss Sheppard had resigned.

Schuler replied that she had not.

"This hour can you make this third appointment?" Nomm asked.

"Apparently Miss Sheppard is no longer a member of the board," Schuler said.

Nomm also brought up the question of three Democrats on the board. Schuler told him that Miller is not a Democrat. "Is he a Republican?" Nomm asked.

"No, he's an independent," the mayor said, moving to the next order of business.

Mayor Schuler appointed Philip Kindle as a member of the Air Pollution Control Board to fill the unexpired term of Richard Allen, an attorney who resigned the board post after Schuler's election last month.

The mayor also appointed: Darrell Vaughn as city heating inspector for a one year term; Edward Branding a city electrical inspector and a member of the electrical board for one year; Abel Valencia as a member of the electrical board for one year.

Edward Reinagei as a member of the City Plan Commission to fill the unexpired term to April 30, 1976, of Boyd Presley who resigned; Edward Boyer as a member of the City Plan Commission to April 30, 1977; Paul "Mick" Worthen as a member of the City Plan Commission to April 30, 1977; Judith Johnson and Carolyn Baker as members of the Animal Shelter Board, both to April 30, 1974.

The council accepted the resignation of Dale Arnette as a member of the Zoning Board of Appeals. Arnette told the council conflict of meeting dates prompted his resignation. Resignations of Lance Callis and Paul Zupan from the Air Pollution Control Board, also were accepted.

State to help farmers meet fuel shortage

Many farm fuel distributors in Illinois are experiencing acute fuel shortages due to less supplies, greater workload caused by weather and transportation tie-ups.

In order to help farmers continue planting, Governor Dan Walker, through the Illinois Department of Agriculture, has instituted a hot line for farmers to report outages. The state department is being assisted by USDA agencies in reporting shortages during this critical period.

Farmers that are out of fuel, or nearly out, should call the hot line in Springfield, phone 217-525-2444 or notify their Madison County Agricultural Station, Madison County Agricultural Station, phone 618-556-7300. ASCS will contact hot line and the Washington Regional Emergency Center.

An all-out effort is being made by state and federal agencies to keep farmers supplied with fuel. President Nixon has given this goal top priority. The Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) is exercising all prerogatives to make fuel available to agriculture. Farmers should avail themselves of this assistance to keep their tractors rolling.
